EXPERIENCE

Boot camp

2022 - 2023

I have successfully completed web development courses, such as Evangadi and MiT, which provided me with valuable experience and fostered strong collaboration skills through a series of practical assignments. These courses had a final project where I was able to apply and show my newly acquired skills.

Academic projects

Over the past year, collaborating with my team we have successfully initiated and executed two projects from beginning to completion, marking significant milestones for beginners. The first project involved utilizing Java programming language with a PostgreSQL database, while the second project utilized React and Node.js. Additionally, on our way we enjoyed leveraging GitHub for version control and collaborating on the projects, along with working with MongoDB for data management.

Additional

In addition to formal courses, I have also pursued notable self-teaching programs in areas such as data structures, Python programming, and MySQL. Although I am continuously working to further enhance my proficiency in these areas, I have made significant progress and gained valuable knowledge through self-directed learning.
